Form 990, Part I, Line 1, Description of Organization Mission:

An education and advocacy center and organic farm working towards the restoration of bio-cultural diversity by cultivating ecological literacy and building the capacity of leaders to guide their communities to an ecologically regenerative, economically viable, and socially just future.

Form 990, Part III, Line 1, Description of Organization Mission:

OAEC cultivates ecological literacy and builds the capacity of civic and social movement leaders and organizations to guide their own communities to an ecologically regenerative, economically viable, and socially just future.

Inspired by Nature, where diversity is a key indicator of the health of an ecosystem, we assist place-based communities in reorienting human economy and governance towards the restoration and stewardship of biological and cultural diversity. To realize our mission, we invest in projects and partnerships that address the root causes of the ecological, economic, and social crises of our time.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a, Description of Program Service:

Through our collaborative network of sustainable agriculture stakeholders - farmers, ranchers, scientists, and advocates - the California Climate and Action Network (CalCAN) project of OAEC continues to achieve legislative and administrative policy that reduces climate impacts through socially just sustainable agriculture and food policy in California. In our eleventh year as a coalition, there are now more legislators familiar with our campaign priorities and more funding available to farmers for climate-friendly practices. This year we co-led the passage of legislation that will more robustly and equitably implement the state's Climate Smart Agriculture programs; we secured funding for technical assistance for farmers applying to the state's Climate Smart Agriculture programs which will increase access and equity; and we advocated with a report outlining a comprehensive roadmap for climate and agriculture policies to Governor Newsom and his staff.

We also expanded our communications and network building activities with the addition of a new staff person, a Campaign Organizer. We organized four Climate Smart Agriculture farm tours for legislators, farmers and other partners. We published two dozen profiles of Climate Farmer Leaders and a fact sheet on the state's Climate Smart Agriculture program's progress to date. We also facilitated the engagement of farmers and others in the policy process by organizing a legislator education day, organizing a dozen meetings between legislators and their constituents, and conducted two dozen strategy meetings with partners throughout the year.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d, Other Program Services:

OAEC 2019 program accomplishments are partially expressed through our many inter-related programs, projects and partnerships. A representative sample of this program work includes:

1. The Resilient Community Design / Permaculture Program,

- 2. The WATER Institute and Beaver Restoration Project,
- 3. The Mother Garden Biodiversity Program,
- 4. The School Garden Teacher Training Project,
- 5. The Movement Building Retreat Program,
- 6. The Legalize Compost Toilet Project,
- 7. The Performance Arts Program,
- 8. The Wildlands Biodiversity Program,
- 9. OAEC's partnership with dozens of racial, social, economic, environmental justice organizations and alliances on education, training, advocacy and alliance building campaigns.
- 10. OAEC's partnership with the Federated Indians of Graton Rancheria.

Each of our programs, projects and partnerships use the same methods and strategies to achieve our public benefit mission, including:

1. We Model Resiliency - OAEC is a resiliency demonstration site, modeling dozens of practical personal and community-scale solutions to common challenges in the sustainable management of soil, water, food production, the restoration and preservation of biological and cultural diversity, and more effective ways to self-govern and manage economy. OAEC's programs benefit from our more than twenty years of experience in developing and caring for our own 80-acre site, as well as supporting hundreds of other land-based projects and organizations.

2. We Train Changemakers - The transition to a just and sustainable economy will only be achieved if more individuals become ecologically literate "changemakers". OAEC continues to develop workshops and advocacy campaigns that help train, support and inspire individuals and social movement leaders to apply an ecological lens to their already inspiring work.

3. We Help Build the Capacity of Communities to Transform Toward Resilience - OAEC strives to achieve a "social change multiplier effect" by training and building the capacity of whole communities to become more effective agents of rapid change. We work to foster ecological literacy and to empower diverse communities - schools, local governments, public agencies, foundations, environmental and social justice organizations, farms and ranches, and policy coalitions - to design their own place-based strategies to create the just transition towards a more regenerative culture and economy.

4. We Work to Change the Rules of Governance and Economy - We work to legalize and require sustainable economy, and to make illegal and dis-incentivize activities that subvert it. Sometimes on our own, but most often through broader advocacy alliances, we seek to change policy in the arenas of governance in which we are most likely to succeed - a city or county council, school board, water agency, or state legislature or agency - on issues that are ripe for change and move us toward a just and sustainable future.

Expenses $ 1,143,235. including grants of $ 470,739. Revenue $ 720,782.
